July's eclipses point to a fresh daily, work or health routine that should provide you with an increasing sense of progress, although there may be a tough call or a minor hurdle to overcome first. You may discover a talent or love for a creative activity that sparks your imagination. You'll feel inclined to follow a more nurturing daily routine in July and August.

THE SCOPE - JULY/AUGUST

ARIES

The big news over the next two months will be July's eclipses and two supermoons in August. These will kick-start a fresh phase in your big picture direction, including changes in your domestic circumstances, status or career. Decisions in any of these areas will impact the others, as your options right now are interdependent, so ensure you do adequate research.

TAURUS

July's eclipses will spotlight your relationships, communications and long-term plans. These are all best served by ensuring you gain work-life balance. Developments will effectively "earth" your projects, giving you more of a sense of stability even if, in the process, some hurdles must be overcome, especially financially or to do with shared duties and aims.

GEMINI

Consider your plans from a long-term point of view, as July's eclipses could shift circumstances dramatically, especially financially and regarding your shared assets and duties. You may need to use your excellent negotiation skills and to alter certain financial agreements. This will be an intense but pleasant few months, so aim to overcome speed bumps.

CANCER

The total solar eclipse on July 3 signals a fresh start, so consider where in life you would like to revitalise circumstances. By mid-July, you'll be ready to turn a corner with an important relationship. August will be a particularly decisive month and you could bring a great deal more security into a relationship and finances, although commitments will need to be met first.

VIRGO

July's eclipses will spotlight both romance and your family relationships. If you are looking for romance, you may meet someone you are fated to be with. A new understanding with someone close will involve the need to dig deep emotionally and to leave the past behind. Avoid taking others' problems personally and look for solutions.

LIBRA

July's eclipses will open doors for you at work and at home. Be ready to step through. The solar eclipse on July 3 will signal a fresh chapter at work or in your general direction; the partial lunar eclipse on July 17 signals a fresh chapter with family or at home. You may need to make a tough call regarding your own personal space versus work or duties.

SCORPIO

Developments that could affect both your finances and your personal circumstances will merit careful attention. A fresh understanding with someone close could open doors to fun activities and the company of like-minded people in July. The supermoons in August will stimulate your ability to be more outgoing in your career.

SAGITTARIUS

The eclipses in July signal a fresh phase in a relationship. Singles should mingle; you may meet a nurturing soul. The partial lunar eclipse on July 17 signals the start of a fresh financial or personal commitment. You may need to weigh the odds carefully; and make a tough decision. An exciting and outgoing month of August will involve the chance to broaden horizons.

CAPRICORN

Get set for a revitalising daily routine. Events may be intense in your personal life and financially, so ensure you pace yourself over the next two months, especially if you were born early to mid-January. Emotions may peak mid-July as key relationships will be a focus then. August should bring a more confident and settled phase, especially at home and with family.

AQUARIUS

Prepare for a fresh routine: be adaptable, as your life is about to change. You may wish for more fulfilment at work and better health as you're ready to close a door to your past. You will enjoy finding time to self-nurture more; and to provide more nurturing to others. Changes that arise over coming months are part of a bigger-picture process.

PISCES

July's eclipses will focus on domestic and work matters; you'll appreciate the opportunity to establish more work-life balance in your daily routine. Romantically, get set for developments that could alter the face of a partnership as personal decisions reach a crescendo. Developments in August point to an increasingly dynamic health and work schedule, which you'll enjoy.
